FIRST AMERICANS IN METZ WARMLY GREETED BY RESIDENTS OF THE CITY

Girls Surrounded Yankee Soldiers and Turned Over Stocks of Candy To Visitors—Newark Soldier Finds City is Scrupulously Clean and People Well Fed.

With a group of the first Americans to reach Metz, Private Peter J. Speier of Battery F, 14th F. A., registered at the Grand Hotel, which had been occupied just two weeks previously by the Kaiser, the Crown Prince and Gen. Von Hindenburg.

In Metz, he was overwhelmed with popularity, and the girls threw the candy stores open to them, treating them kindly.

In a three day trip he visited many places of interest which he tells about in the following letter written December 27 to his mother Mrs. John Speier of this city:

"I have just gotten back from one of the most wonderful trips that I have ever experienced in my whole life and I never expect to equal it. We are located in a town which is only about 50 kilometers from the Verdun front, and our captain has made arrangements which will give us time every man a chance to see the front. They plan to go at one time and I was in the second bunch to get to go. We are now gone for three days and drove in machines. Our first stop was the city of Toul. It sure is a beautiful place and we had dinner in this city. Our dinner wasn't any thing we could brag about but it was very expensive. We had rye bread and butter a small piece of steak, jam and a cup of coffee, all for 6 francs which amounts to about $1.10 in American money.

"Our Lieutenant was very well acquainted around this part of the country as he has been all through there before and he surely is a prince. He was one of the boys—he was in for everything and what we did—see that afternoon wasn't worth while seeing. At 4:30 we started on our journey. We knew just where we were going to stop next and on our way went through towns that were nothing but ruins. One town was completely destroyed, all there was left on the place was just 3 walls standing. I didn't get the name of the place but I know that it didn't even look like there ever was a town there.

"Before we arrived at Nancy, which was our next stop at about six o'clock, we went to a hotel which was a fine place. We registered for the night. This hotel was taken over by the Red Cross and I had ham and eggs for supper. It was the first time that I have had a piece of ham since I left home and it did taste good. Nancy is a pretty town only there has been so much fighting around there that the buildings that are in ruins spoils the views of the town. Nancy is a big city as well as Toul. These two cities are the best two cities that I have seen in France so far. We left here about 9 o'clock the next morning and when we got to the outskirts of the town we found concrete walls that were put up by the Germans. They expected to stay there for ever. These walls were anywhere from 4 to 6 feet thick. The French had blown up these walls in roads. At about 10 o'clock we arrived at the place where the Germans had their front line trenches, so we parked our machine and started to go through these trenches. They have been there for over 3 years and were surely constructed, all concrete with wooden floors.

"This country was all tunneled and had big rooms all through for miles around and fixed up time. They had fine bunks to sleep on and electric lights. These dug outs were from 14 to 20 feet under ground. Even the steps were of concrete—they had steel rails for beams. I want to tell you that it was wonderful. One room was about 10 feet long and they had lowing beds in it. They merely figured on staying for ever. Then we came to one dug out that was named 'Hindenberg'. And we were in to see every thing while we were at it, we went down to see what it was like and we were surprised at what we found in this place. It must have been general headquarters for they had typewriters, desks to write on, a piano and pictures hanging on the wall.

"So after we got through we took a walk through the woods and we found every thing you could think of, machine guns and ammunition by the wholesale, I found helmets, canteens, knives, rifles, pistols, masks and cups. Why I have souvenirs of all kinds. I hope that I will be able to send them all home. There were big shell holes all through these woods where the allies have made hits. Trees were just splintered. By this time we were getting hungry so we started out to look for a place to eat. Some of the fellows went out and got some bread and we had a basket of butter that we started to eat. By this time it was getting to within 15 minutes of noon. When we got through eating our lunch our Lieutenant said we are not very far from Metz so we might as well go and see what it's like. By this time it was about 3 o'clock so we started and after 30 minutes of an hour we came to where all we saw was concrete walls. These walls were all built up by the French advance guards.

"The Germans had these walls across the roads and they were very wide 14 feet thick. On top they were covered with railroad ties. All along the road and the surrounding trenches were machine guns and ammunition by the wholesale, I found helmets, canteens, knives, rifles, pistols, masks and cups. Why I have souvenirs of all kinds. I hope that I will be able to send them all home. There were big shell holes all through these woods where the allies have made hits. Trees were just splintered. I can't explain how good they are. We went through some of the churches and I was surely surprised at the way they are finished on the inside, some of the finest buildings in that city. You will have to go a long way in Europe to beat them.

"The children are all so clean—why that is one thing that you have to hand it to the German people for they do keep things clean. This is an difference in the world between the Germans and us French when it comes to keeping things clean. They have some depots and some railroads too. All the coaches and their locomotives are camouflaged. Every thing is camouflaged. Those Germans have things fixed up. You have to hand it to them for being industrious. Their street cars are the same as those in London and Liverpool, England, double deckers and they also have trailers.

"We surely did have plenty of girls.

"I found the first real girls in Metz. There surely are some pretty ones in that town. We had them hanging on each arm. They all want to go to the states. It's no trouble to get a wife in this town and a man can't have his pick, so don't be surprised if I bring one with me. The first thing that the people would ask us was 'What do you bring anything to eat?' They all look well but they are very short of food. Butter is $4.00 a lb. in American money. It's a fright at how high things are here but it stands to reason that a country being at war for over 4 years spending all its money to keep their army up and keep their soldiers in good food would make road high.

"Their soldiers sure were well fed, they had the best of everything only the bread was black. I expect that candy is worth about $1.00 a lb. but when we passed the candy stores, why the girls threw the doors open and gave us all the candy we wanted. They sure were tickled to see real Americans. They seem to think that the Americans were going to occupy Metz but it was different as the French were already there and the Americans went on and took over Strasbourg.

"There is one city that I want to see before I go back to the States and if I can get a furlough I am going. I want to see all I can while I am here because I don't never expect to get over here again and on the other hand I don't care about ever coming over again.

"There is one thing more that I want to tell you about. I haven't told you any thing about the man who ran the Grand Hotel. Why he was so glad to see us boys that I believe if we would have asked him for his hotel he would have given it to us. He could speak good English as he said that he had been all over this world.

"He told us all about New York, London and some more of the big cities back home. We were the first American soldiers that ever stayed in the Grand hotel and when we registered he had a separate book for us to put our name in and he said 'I am going to take care of this book.'

"Two weeks previous the Kaiser, the Crown Prince, Hindenberg and a few more or those main killing devils put up here. They let them stay here to give them a place to stay. Everything then gave them marks but not any more. It's all 'france' now. I have described all about it as well as I can so I will close with best wishes and regards to all."

Private Arthur Harris, who is listed in today's casualties as missing in action, is in a hospital recovering from the flu, according to letters received from his wife, who lives at 57 Harris Avenue.

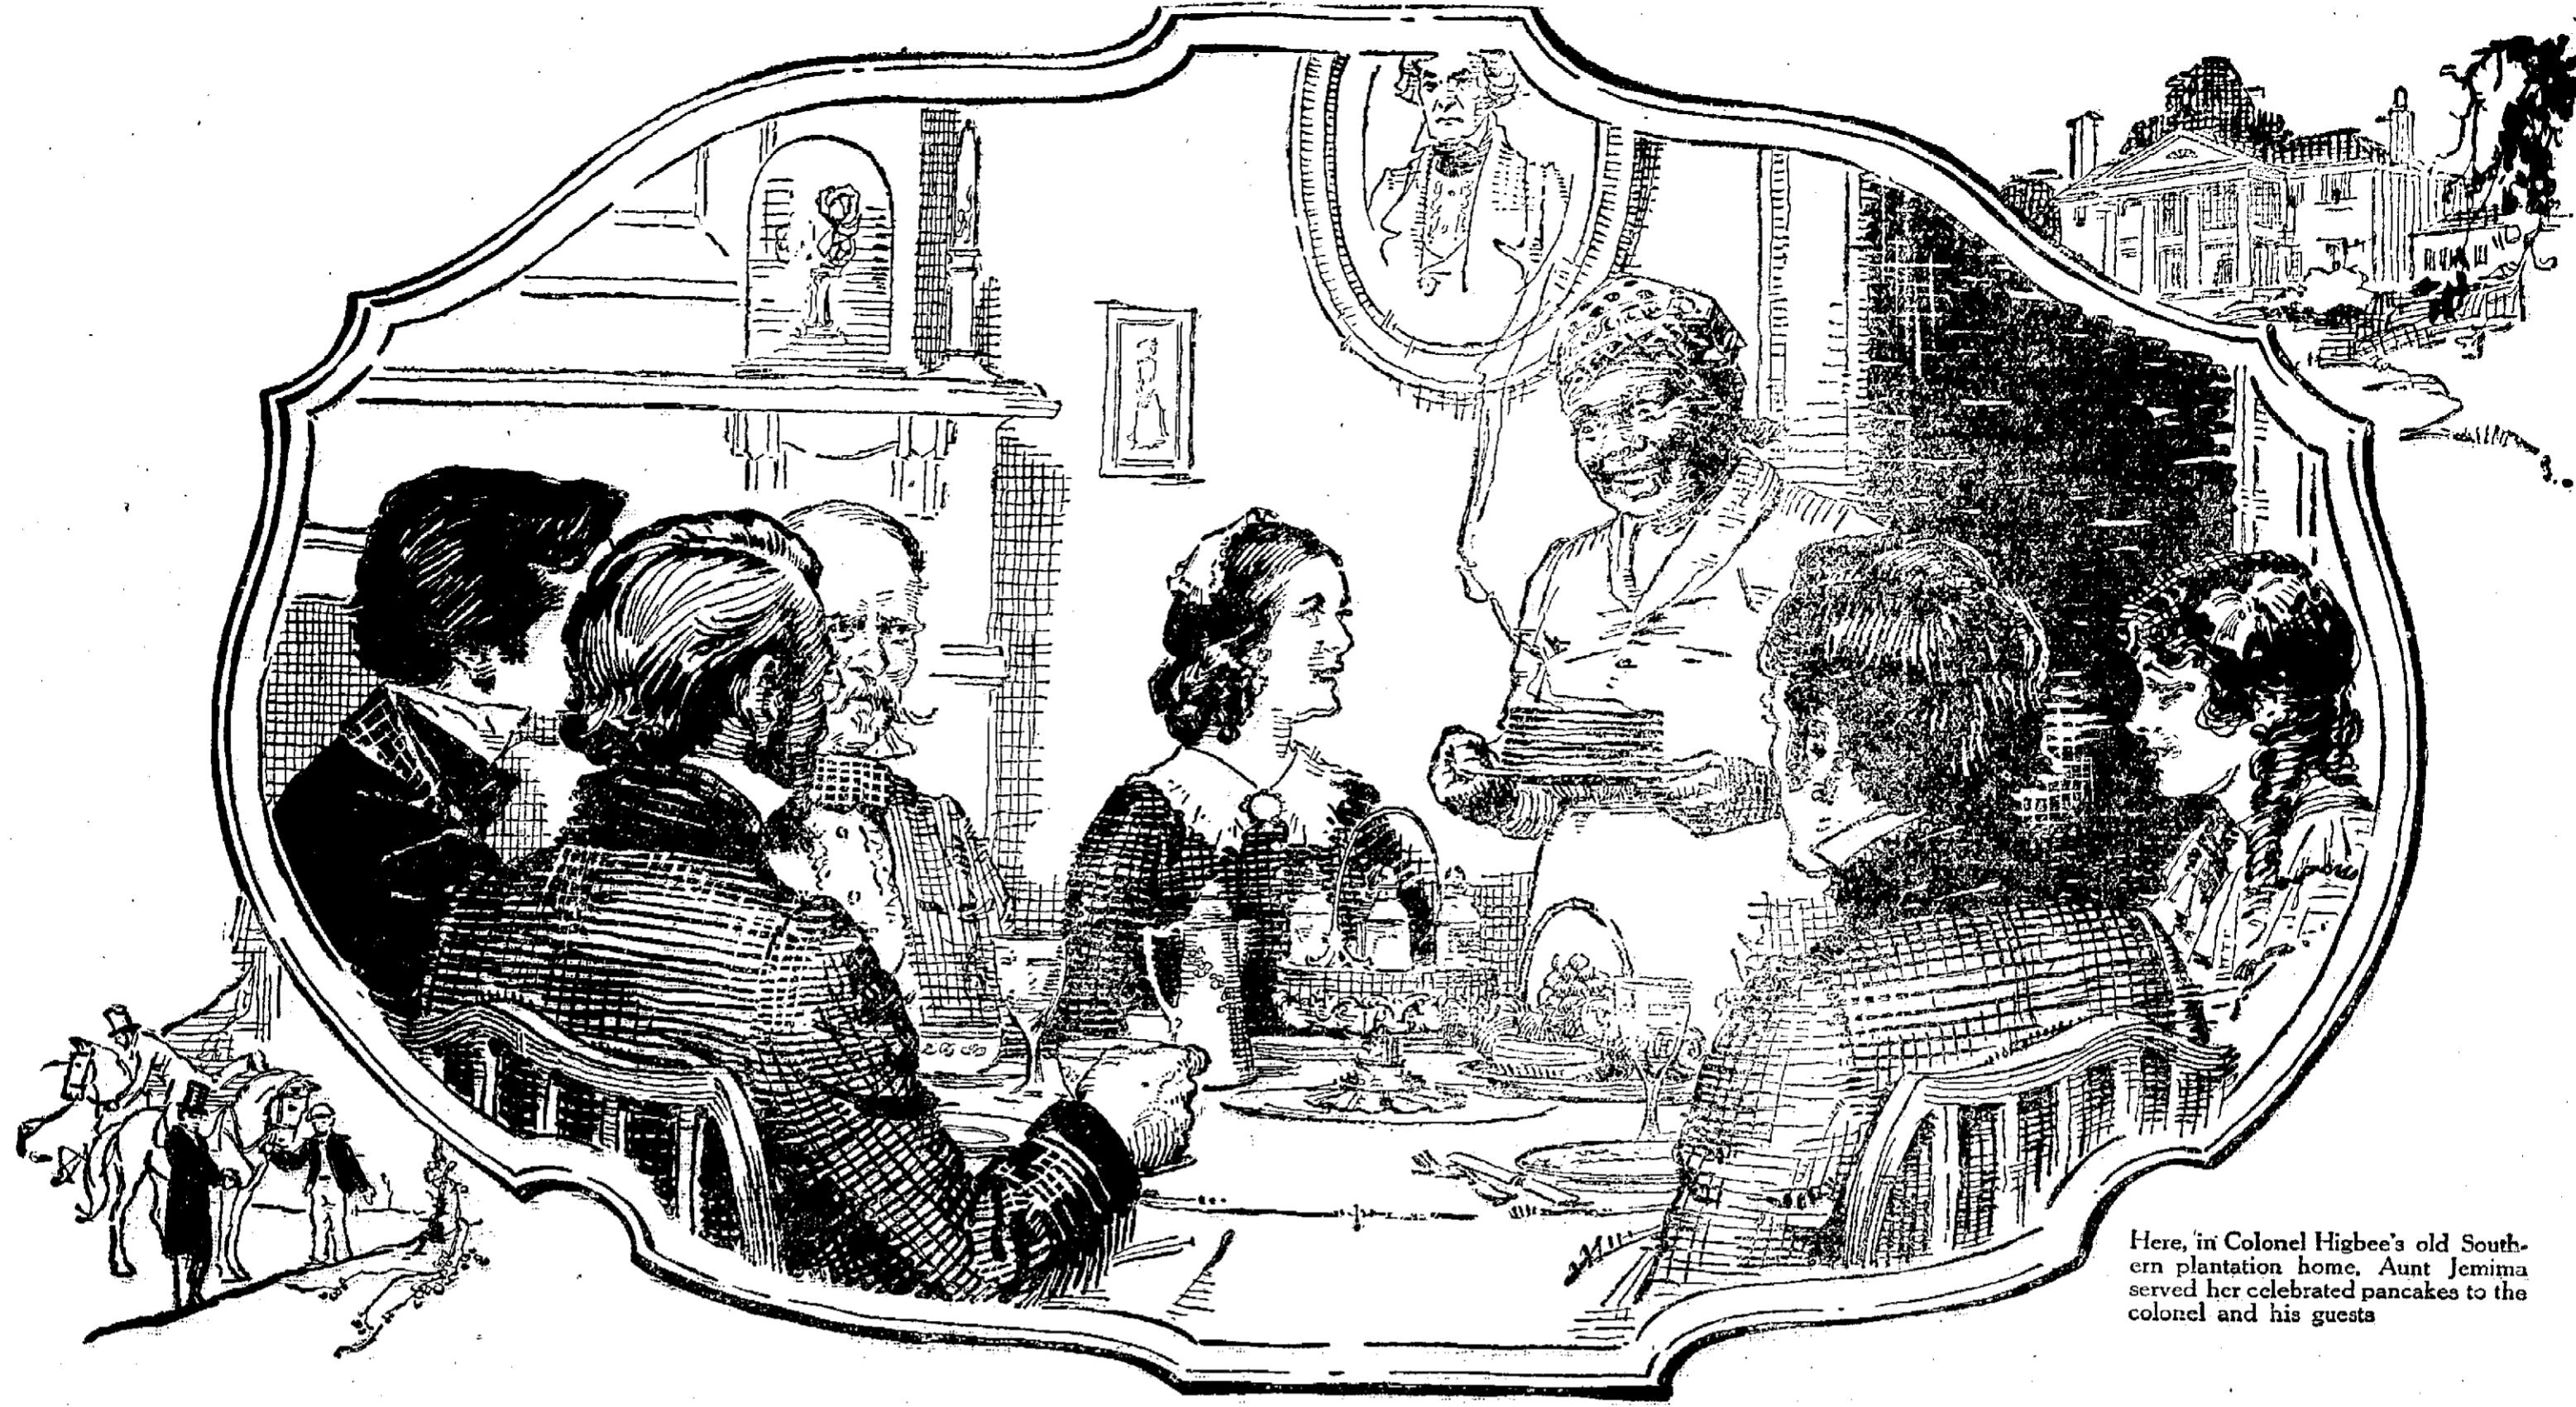

The family received the official notification last week that he was missing but were not alarmed about it as they had letters from him written late as December 3. At that time he stated that he had practically recovered from his illness, had a fine and was awaiting being sent home. He went overseas with the 84th division, and was transferred to Company C, 16th Infantry, before going in the service. Private Harris was employed as a modeller at the Wehrle company.

Here, in Colonel Higbee's old Southern plantation home, Aunt Jemima served her celebrated pancakes to the colonel and his guests

The old plantation cook who made a fortune

In this cabin, close to the bank of the Mississippi, Aunt Jemima lived for years after the war had freed her. Many were the meals of delicious hot pancakes she served here to the people who came from miles around to get them.

Many tempting offers were made Aunt Jemima for her wonderful recipe but none so tempting as the offer of the company which is now the Aunt Jemima Mills Company, to whom she finally sold her famous recipe.

How a Louisiana mammy made pancakes so good they became America's favorite breakfast

Sixty years ago an old negro cook became famous throughout the whole South for her pancakes.

Her name was Aunt Jemima and all the guests at Colonel Higbee's plantation in Louisiana, where Aunt Jemima was cook, said they had never tasted such cakes before. They came from miles around to get them!

After the war had freed her, Aunt Jemima lived for years in her little cabin close to the Mississippi. Many were the delicious pancakes she served here to those who came from all over the South for a taste of them.

How their fame reached the North

The famous old river steamer, the "Robert E. Lee," stopped regularly for wood near Aunt Jemima's cabin.

One day there was a Southerner on board, who as a guest of Colonel Higbee's had often eaten Aunt Jemima's Pancakes. He invited his fellow passengers, among whom were many Northerners, to stop at Aunt Jemima's cabin for a plate of her delicious cakes.

This they did, and so the fame of Aunt Jemima's Pancakes reached the North.

Among the party was a member of the firm which is now known as the Aunt Jemima Mills Company. He, with many of the others, made Aunt Jemima tempting offers for her recipe, but she could not be induced to part with it.

After months of effort, however, and offers more and more liberal, Aunt Jemima finally consented to sell us

With Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour you can also make the most delightful muffins, waffles and breadsticks you ever ate! Aunt Jemima Flour comes prepared for buckwheat cakes, too. Aunt Jemima Mills Company, St. Joseph, Missouri her celebrated recipe. One condition of the sale was that she was to be paid in gold, for after several unfortunate experiences with paper money during the war, she was fully convinced that gold was the only safe form of wealth. Thus Aunt Jemima made her fortune from the sale of her pancake recipe.

The recipe prepared for your use

Now came the real work of getting this wonderful recipe into the homes of all the women in the land—months of study and experiment, with Aunt Jemima herself supervising every step. At last Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour in its present form was evolved. Even the sweet milk, so necessary for good pancakes, was reduced to powdered form and put into the flour.

And now any one can make these famous cakes! For Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour contains all the ingredients of the old secret recipe.

You need no milk--no eggs

You need only stir up Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour with a little water. The pure sweet milk, remember, is already in the flour, and it's so rich you need no eggs. With it, you, too, can serve the tender, delicious cakes that were praised so highly by all the guests on that old Louisiana plantation!

Have an Aunt Jemima Pancake breakfast tomorrow—fragrant, deliciously browned pancakes, piping hot! See why they have become America's favorite breakfast.

THE ARTIST-STATESMAN.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

Ignace Paderewski is one of the notable phenomena of the day. The great musician has become head of the Polish nation. The artist has developed high qualities of statesmanship and has proved his right to lead.

For more than a score of years the world has known Paderewski as a music master. Not only as a virtuoso, but also as a composer and master of musical science the distinguished Pole has earned a place among the immortals. During these years the world never suspected that Paderewski was different from other artists. It was assumed that his life was devoted to his art, and that he had no interests and few recreations outside the realm of music.

During the war Paderewski was active in the work of raising funds for the relief of the Polish victims of war's barbarity. He was commanded for his unselfishness and humanitarianism, but even then it was not disclosed that he was more than a patriot and humanitarian. Only since the cessation of hostilities has Ignace Paderewski appeared as an able statesman and skillful organizer.

Paderewski entered Poland when factional discord threatened to disrupt the new state and to deprive the Poles of the fruits of the allied victory. Taking no thought of his personal danger the artist-statesman went from province to province, from city to city, and where he went he established harmony. He clearly depicted the danger of disunion and the necessity of presenting a united Polish front to Germany and Boishevist enemies. Nor has his "artistic temperament" in any measure lessened his practical usefulness. He is, to be sure, an idealist, but he is an idealist with both feet firmly on the earth. He has not shunned the immense responsibility of supreme leadership of the Polish nation, and now, as premier of Poland, he will be tested in one of the most difficult places in the world today.

Paderewski has already won a place in history. He has already proved himself unique among great artists. All Poles and all friends of Poland will now hope that the genius he has displayed is no more than an earnest of still greater skill in leadership that will bring Poland to the goal of self-reliant independence.

THE PRESIDENT'S TOUR.

(New York Times.)

Commenting on the reported intention of President Wilson to make a speaking tour of the country, in which he will set forth his arguments for his peace policies. The Rochester Post Express says:

"It is a repeated report from abroad that the President regards his cordial reception as indorsement by the peoples of France, Great Britain, and Italy of his peace position. If his judgment is accurate, then these peoples seem to enjoy an advantage over his own nation; they must completely understand what the President is standing for, and a great part of this nation does not clearly understand this."

"These peoples" enjoy no advantages over "his own nation." They "clearly understand that he desires to make war impossible or difficult in the future, and to that desire they give their indorsement." His own nation understands that as well as do the cheering people of Europe. His own nation would give the same kind of indorsement that he has received from others if he were to appear here, as he did there, merely as the man who represents that desire.

But when the President makes his speaking tour of the United States, if he does make it, he will not appear, as he did there, simply as an embodiment of a desire. By the time he arrives here the aspiration which he embodies will have begun, at least, to take solid form. There will be details to talk about, whether the whole peace treaty has been concluded or not. From the basis of a universal desire labor toward its realization will have begun. There is no quarrel about the desire, but there will be immediate differences of opinion about the form of its realization as soon as the peace conference begins to shape it. The President's tour, without doubt, will be for the purpose of reconciling these differences and explaining and defending the form the great work takes. Specifically, we assume, he will undertake to convince the people first, and through them the senate, not that permanent peace is a good thing but that the things done at Versailles will advance that end.

TRUTH FROM GERMANY.

(Louisville Courier-Journal.)

This is interesting not so much because it is true, as because it is true from a German. It is Maximilian Harden who says in his paper:

"We had 51 months of domination in Belgium, accompanied by the theft of raw materials, machinery and merchandise of all sorts and of $750,000,000 in money, currency and bank notes, with the violation of individual rights, forced labor, deportations and even at the last moment with pillage and destruction of towns."

"Then there has been the devastation of Northern France, with the deliberate destruction of cathedrals, monuments, factories and fruit trees; also air bombardments, such as are contrary to the usages of war, and the torpedoing of passenger steamers and hospital ships."

"The list of our deeds comprises also secret compact with the Irish and the Flemings, the introduction of disease bacilli by means of shells. On all sides there has been corruption, fraud, theft, the open or secret violation of all rights, while entire fields have been soaked with blood, as in the case of the Armenians."

"With all that we have been defeated. Can we wonder that not one voice is raised in favor of Germany?"

But there are voices raised in favor of Germany. There is quite a chorus of them in this country singing the operetta, "The Melodydole," Mosh, the favorite air of which is "Don't Hit a Man When He's Down."

ATTACKING FAITH.

(Ohio State Journal.)

People who think that faith is reason and so attack it with argument are astonished to find that their blows all recoil on themselves. Faith is love, trust, confidence, mystery, things that bough at reason. We could as soon think of arguing against a man's faith as against a child's love. The only way a man can argue successfully against his neighbor's faith is to live a lower, nobler, sweeter life and thus show his faith is the truest. Argument is no more than the ramble of a sound in a cage. It takes ignorance to know the absolute truth and yet there are many people who will rise to the truth with their own special belonging.

When we hear one man attacking another for not believing as he does we see him as an object of universal sympathy. His very attitude makes his opinion unworthy of confidence. One doesn't care for a man's opinion, and he is not impressed at violent ar-

FASCINATION OF FUR.

Furs have always had a tremendous fascination for women. Now they are telling us of one coat for a society woman costing $75,000. The girls must even have fur in summer. The dumb beast, through some gift of evolution, sheds his long hairs when the sun climbs. The girl of the period, when the thermometer ascends to the nineties, still buries herself in fury stuff, built to shelter a shivering beast exposed to zero weather.

High prices prevailing in the fur trade have stimulated trapping and shooting all over the country. Burlington, Vermont, the center of a fairly well settled community, ships 75,000 muskrat skins a year. In towns the life of poor kitty is no longer safe.

The country boy is stirred to the roots of his being by the predatory trapping instinct. Now it is further whetted by high fur prices. He may weep when his mother asks for a basket of wood. But he'll walk miles to visit his empty traps.

And about next June, look out for the impudent college student who can't get his education unless you buy a $50 history of the war with tooled leather covers and 636 handsome steel engravings.

The people who don't want to give any money to feed starving Europe, will be complaining before long because they can't get any foreign trade as the result of anarchy all over the world.

So far as heard from the publishers of school geographies have not objected to the extensive changes of the map of Europe that will make new text books necessary in all the schools.

The people who say they won't subscribe to the next issue of Liberty bonds, are probably the same ones who complain because there aren't ships enough to bring the boys home quickly.

The speed with which the politicians finally climbed on the Prohibition band wagon, hasn't been seen since the animals ran for Noah's ark when it began to sprinkle.

From the way things are working over in Europe, a single Bolshevik with a machine gun seems to cast more votes than 100 peaceful citizens hiding in their cellars.

The popular theory of beautifying the back yard, is to put the ash heap where one can't see it himself but where all the neighbors can.

With the knitting for the soldiers about over, some popular men are in deadly peril of getting embroiled neckties.

This is about the time of year when the fellows who love horse flesh make their plans to go to the automobile shows.

No Mandie dear, you don't have to use a taxicab to realize that time is money.

THE ARTIST-STATESMAN.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

Ignace Paderewski is one of the notable phenomena of the day. The great musician has become head of the Polish nation. The artist has developed high qualities of statesmanship and has proved his right to lead.

For more than a score of years the world has known Paderewski as a music master. Not only as a virtuoso but also as a composer and master of musical science the distinguished Pole has earned a place among the immortals. During these years the world never suspected that Paderewski was different from other artists. It was assumed that his life was devoted to his art, and that he had no interests and few recreations outside the realm of music.

During the war Paderewski was active in the work of raising funds for the relief of the Polish victims of war's barbarity. He was commended for his unselfishness and humanitarianism, but even then it was not disclosed that he was more than a patriot and humanitarian. Only since the cessation of hostilities has Ignace Paderewski appeared as an able statesman and skillful organizer.

Paderewski entered Poland when factional discord threatened to disrupt the new state and to deprive the Poles of the fruits of the allied victory. Taking no thought of his personal danger the artist-statesman went from province to province, from city to city, and where he went he established harmony. He clearly depicted the danger of disunion and the necessity of presenting a united Polish front to German and Bolshevik enemies. Not has his "artistic temperament" in any measure lessened his practical usefulness. He is to be sure an idealist, but he is an idealist with both feet firmly on the earth. He has not shunned the immense responsibility of supreme leadership of the Polish nation and now, as premier of Poland, he will be tested in one of the most difficult places in the world today.

Paderewski has already won a place in history. He has already proved himself unique among great artists. All Poles and all friends of Poland will now hope that the genius he has displayed is no more than an earnest of still greater skill in leadership that will bring Poland to the goal of self-reliant independence.

THE PRESIDENT'S TOUR.

(New York Times.)

Commenting on the reported intention of President Wilson to make a speaking tour of the country, in which he will set forth his arguments for his peace policies. The Rochester Post-Express says:

"It is a repeated report from abroad that the President regards his cordial reception as indorsement by the peoples of France, Great Britain, and Italy of his peace position. If his judgment is accurate, then these peoples seem to enjoy an advantage over his own nation: they must completely understand what the President is standing for, and a great part of this nation does not clearly understand this."

"These peoples" enjoy no advantages over "his own nation." They "clearly understand" that he desires to make war impossible or difficult in the future, and to that desire they give their "indorsement." His own nation understands as well as do the cheering people of Europe. His own nation would give the same kind of indorsement that he has received from others, if he were to appear here, as he did there, merely as the man who represents that desire.

But when the President makes his speaking tour of the United States, if he does make it, he will not appear, as he did there, simply as an embodiment of a desire. By the time he arrives here the aspiration which he embodies will have begun, at least, to take solid form. There will be details to talk about, whether the peace treaty has been concluded or not. From the basis of a universal desire labor toward its realization will have begun. There is no quarrel about the desire but there will be immediate differences of opinion about the form of its realization as soon as the peace conference begins to shape it. The President's tour, without doubt, will be for the purpose of reconciling these differences and explaining and defending the form the great work takes. Specifically, we assume, he will undertake to convince the people first, and through them the senate, that permanent peace is a good thing, but that the things done at Versailles will not do.

America and the Food Demand. Herbert C. Hoover's portrayal of food needs in the war-stricken countries of Europe is distinctly unpleasant. Vast quantities of food—his estimate is 1,400,000 tons for the period prior to the next harvest—are needed, much of it within a month. There probably is ample surplus of food in this country. Argentina, Australia and India to sustain the race, but in view of world shipping conditions a wide safety margin should be allowed for an adequate transmission of supplies from this country. If that safety margin calls for further close conservation in the United States, the people may be dependent upon to perform well in this respect. All they need is to understand clearly what is required of them in the broad interest of humanity.—Minneapolis Tribune.

The Need for China's Protection. The reason for the display of benevolence toward China and the manifested destruction of cathedrals, monuments, factories and fruit trees; also air bombardments, such as are contrary to the usages of war, and the torpedoing of passenger steamers and hospital ships.

"The list of our debts comprises also secret compacts with the Irish and the Flemings, the introduction of disease bacilli by means of shells. On all sides there has been corruption, fraud, theft, the open or secret violation of all rights, while entire fields have been soaked with blood, as in the case of the Armenians."

"With all that we have been defeated. Can we wonder that not one voice is raised in favor of Germany?"

But there are voices raised in favor of Germany. There is quite a chorus of them in this country singing the operetta, "The Melodeon's Musk," the favorite air of which is "Don't Hit a Man When He's Down."

ATTACKING FAITH.

(Ohio State Journal.)

People who think it is faith in reason and not in authority that argument is astonished to find that their blows all recoil on themselves. Faith is love, trust, confidence, mystery, things that launch in reason. We could as soon think of arguing against a man's faith as against a child's love. The only way a man can argue successfully against his neighbor's faith is to be a fool, a nobler, wiser life and thus show his faith is the truest. Argument is no more than the ramble of a sound in a cage. It takes experience to know the absolute truth of it; there are many people who will say if the truth was their own they'd be strong.

With the knitting for the soldiers about over, some popular men are in deadly peril of getting embroiled neckties.

This is about the time of year when the fellows who love horse flesh make their plans to go to the automobile shows.

A man can never do anything at variance with his own nature. He lives within him the germ of his most exceptional action; and if we wise people make eminent fools of ourselves on any particular occasion we must endure the legitimate conclusion that we carry a few grains of folly to our source of wisdom.—George Eliot.

That the first form of hand-gun which could fairly be compared with the modern musket was the arquebus? Those of earlier date were fired by ap-

Dear Editor of the Melting Pot—One day last week I was up to Newark and went in to Evans' drugstore to get a garter for Eph, him having the sore throat, somewhat awful. And while the young man was waiting on me, came Em Cecil and she says "Oh Mr. Evans! I've got the most splitting headache. I wish you'd mix me a glass of that there Excelsior folks says is so good." Yours truly, Cousin Jane.

to be seen at the Auditorium theatre, Sunday. If the term "western drama" conjures up a picture of brawling six-shooters, lariats, swearing braves and cowboys covered with alkali dust, disregard the western theme and give attention for a moment to the play house angle.

In "Heart of the Sunset" you will see Elmo Austin and his beautiful bride, Claire, owners of thousands of acres of valuable Texas and Mexican grazing land and cattle enough to cover them all in their sumptuous furnished ranch home. They are western people, living in the land of great spaces and governed largely by the conventions of their education, but they are bold and brave people and conduct themselves as such.

A special feature of the news and a specially arranged music program will make this one of the best programs of the season.

AMUSEMENTS

AUDITORIUM. Last Night Show.

The big laughing hit, "Parlor, Bed Room and Bath," the unusual farce comedy by C. W. Bell and Mark Swan, which had a big run in New York, early in last season, played two engagements at the Auditorium yesterday. The big theatre was filled to capacity last night and the audience enjoyed every minute of the fresh, flippant and farcical frolic presented by a very capable company. The play in three acts offered a novel and original plot, a broad satire on the sentimental side of feminine nature. The story dealt with the escapades of a mild and innocent young husband whose wife loved him because she thought him a gay Lothario. He was desperately in love with his wife but as innocent of experience as the proverbial lamb. He was compelled to sustain his wife's illusions and reluctantly go the way of folly. Then the fun starts and the complicated situations which follow are certainly a cure for any old kind of blues with

"The Million Dollar Doll." On next Thursday, January 30, Nor-

Scene from the Musical Comedy Success, "The Million Dollar Doll," at the Auditorium Theatre, Matinee and Night, Thursday, Jan. 30.

which any one in the audience may be afflicted. Walter Perkins as Reginald Irving, the innocent young husband, was cast especially for the part and his portrayal of the character was most excellent. Zita Moulton as his wife was also excellently handled, as were the others of the cast, but Flavia Arcaro as Polly Hathaway, society reporter of one of those scandal sheets of the metropolis deserves special mention. She injected much spice into the farce and was clever in the portrayal of her part but she overdid it and spoiled the effect of what might have otherwise been much more delightful.

Manager Penberg, who is giving his patrons the best that can be secured, announces the merry musical farce, "The Million Dollar Doll" as his next big attraction on Thursday, Jan. 30.

Eye for Eye."

Auditorium picture fans have a treat in store for them today and tomorrow when Mme. Nazimova is seen in "Eye for Eye" adapted from Henry Kistemaker's drama, "L'Occident" by June Mathis and Albert Capellani. The Auditorium management can personally guarantee this as a real feature for this great star as you remember Bernhardt as the greatest star on the stage, Caruso of Grand Opera and Nazimova as the greatest screen star—you will acclaim her as the greatest after seeing "Eye for Eye."

As an extra added feature, we are showing the "Making of a Sailor," a star red Navy feature to see what our navy boys had to do and what they are doing as fast Paul Ginter, he'll say—see it. This feature today between 5 and 6 p. m. as we run continuous. The Photo News will also be shown.

The Making of a Sailor."

Many men who wish to enter the Navy as well as their families, wish to know what the Navy offers as a life, the kind of duty, etc., performs the routine of the ships and training stations, the different ports visited and one hundred and one different things are to be seen today at the Auditorium in "The Making of a Sailor," the added feature to the Metro Screen Classic "Eye for Eye" with Mme. Nazimova, shown at the Auditorium.

Heart of Sunset."

A western drama de luxe is "Heart of the Sunset," Rex Beach's latest picturization of one of his own novels.

GRAND Friday.

Fighting always had been his creed. Then Marie came into his life like the ray of sunshine that streamed down through the branches of the tall pines he loved so well. He had detested weakness of any kind, and Gabriel, a stripling, had been an object of contempt to him.

But one day Hugon the Mighty came to the conclusion that Marie loved Gabriel. His heart grew heavy, but he determined he would make of Gabriel a man worthy of such a girl. He forgot his contempt for weakness and took Gabriel in hand.

Out into the hills over dangerous precipices, into the wild places they tramped, teaching the youth the things he needed to know to fight a man's fight in the woods. Hugon grew, in time, to believe the youth would bear his leaving, however, and he was persuaded to remain to dine.

But see the conclusion of the story in "Hugon the Mighty," the thrilling bluebird photoplay in five reels, which comes to the Gem Theatre on Friday with Monroe Salisbury in the title role.

LYRIC.

The "American Follies." At the Lyric theatre today, Arthur O. Hieber presents his company of musical comedy players in a farce entitled "Love Island." Like the two preceding bills, this latest is replete with dull situations, ably controlled by these kings of funmakers, Jack Quinn and Frank Tunny. Miss Dorothy Brooks assumes the prima donna role and is supported by Wingfield Downey, "Lucille" and the "Great Vernon." Tonight is Amateur night, and a novel surprise has been prepared for the patrons, entitled "Blind Man's Buff."

Fault-Finding.

Why should we denounce fault-finding because it is not constructive? All of us are continuously finding fault, more or less, and on our success in finding the fault and destroying it depends mostly our successful development. So in the end it appears that fault-finding is essentially one of our most constructive activities. One of our worst faults is the hypocritical practice of finding fault with fault-finding.—F. H. Young in Providence Journal.

Fault-Finding.

Why should we denounce fault-finding because it is not constructive? All of us are continuously finding fault, more or less, and on our success in finding the fault and destroying it depends mostly our successful development. So in the end it appears that fault-finding is essentially one of our most constructive activities. One of our worst faults is the hypocritical practice of finding fault with fault-finding.—F. H. Young in Providence Journal.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

Private Carl E. Fulk of Atherton, acknowledges receipt of his service medal and extends his thanks to the Advocate and the people of Licking county for it.

"I am in receipt of your letter and the beautiful medal which comes as a token of service from the patriotic and generous people of Licking county," writes Frank O. Taftel to the Advocate.

"Although the day of battle has ceased and we gradually return to the quiet walks of peace, there will always remain the thoughts of favors and loyal support given to the boys in service from the people of Licking county. I am sure the great work accomplished by 'Lickings' will stand out as a permanent and patriotic service and loyal devotion which time can never destroy nor deeds deface."

"It has been a great privilege to serve one's country and represent a community who know 'no task too hard nor deed to great' in the winning of the past war."

"So, this gift of service coming from the hearts of folks back home is greatly appreciated and will be kept and cherished always. May God my thanks to the donors and may God keep them and bless them in the great work of reconstruction."

"I am in receipt of your service medal presented to every soldier and sailor from Licking county," says Gerald A. Smith in a letter to the Advocate.

"Many of my friends have admired the medal and say that their communities should have thought of something similar to remember their men in the service with."

"I am very pleased to cherish this medal and in later days when I shall look at it, I shall always remember that good old Licking county was 'right there' when it came to showing how she appreciated the efforts of her men in making the world a decent place to live in."

In a letter to the Advocate, R. D. Jones of West Church street expresses his thanks and appreciation for the Licking county service medal. "Although I hardly think I am deserving of the honor given me because my military career was so short-lived, I wish to express my deep appreciation. I will always keep the medal as one of my most valued treasures," Jones letter says.

Writing the Advocate from Springfield, where he is in school, Harold W. Hulstien says: "I am taking this opportunity to thank the Advocate and the people of Licking county for the beautiful medal which I have received. I am sure that 2500 men will do likewise, even more than they can express."

which is one remedy I always keep in the house, and that is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It helps my digestion wonderfully and as a laxative it is pleasant and dependable. (From a letter to Dr. Caldwell written by Mr. J. N. Kidd, Bell, Texas.)

From youth to age the greatest menace to health is constipation, which retards digestion and disturbs the entire organic system.

To relieve constipation a mild laxative, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is preferable to drastic cathartics and purgatives, the violence of which shock the system unduly.

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT WALK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her to Health.

Perth Amboy, N.J.—"For three years I suffered with a severe female trouble, was nervous, had backache and a pain in my side most of the time. I had dizzy spells and was often so faint I could not walk across the floor. The doctor said I would have to have an operation. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in my newspaper, and tried it. Now I am better, feel strong, have no pains, backache or dizzy spells. Every one tells me how well I look, and I tell them to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—that is what makes me feel well and look well. I recommended it to my sister and she is using it now. You can use this letter if you wish, for it is certainly a grand remedy for a woman's ills."—Mrs. MARTHA STANISLAWSKI, 524 Penn St., Perth Amboy, N.J.

For forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been overcoming such serious conditions as displace- ments, inflammation, ulceration, irreg- ularities, periodic pains, backache, diz- ziness, and nervous prostration of women, and is now considered the stan- dard remedy for such ailments.

PULL TOGETHER FOR BLESSINGS OF A HIGH ORDER

Nerv-Worth and Nerv-Worth Tablets unite their forces with happy results for those whose nervous ills are mixed up with stomach, bowel and liver troubles. Nerv-Worth the liquid generally masters derangements of the liver and bowels, but in some cases these are too deep-rooted to surrender quickly and then the Tablets, taken in conjunction with the liquid, do wonderful work. They are especially valuable in cleansing the bowels for those whose habits of constipation do not readily yield to the laxative properties of Nerv-Worth the liquid. A bottle of Nerv-Worth and a 25c box of the Tablets form a combination without equal in overcoming ills of the nerves, stomach, bowels and liver.

DAILY HEALTH TALKS

Better be Careful About Your Kidneys

By N. B. COOK, M. D.

Foods taken into the stomach go through various chemical changes, and some of these changes are poisons that must be sifted out and disposed of. It is the duty of the kidneys to do this. When the kidneys do not fully perform their vital work, death may be only a few hours away. Happily, Nature has provided warning alarms telling people when their kidneys are not well. These warnings come in the form of dragging pains in the small of the back, weak stomach, low spirits, chills, nausea, headache, scanty urine and frequent desire to pass it, short breath, numbness, cramps, coated tongue, bad breath, puffs under the eyes, thin blood, dry skin, ringing in the ears, spots before the eyes and many other symptoms. All come from the one cause of kidneys that are not filtering the poisons out of the system. To overcome these troubles, Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., compounded what he calls Anuric Tablets. No other kidney medicine is it equal in giving relief and re-establishing healthful work in the kidneys. The treatment is very simple, as you need nothing except water when taking Anuric Tablets—a glass of water with each tablet. This washes and flushes the kidneys while the medicine itself is dissolving the uric acid poisons and driving them out. Anuric Tablets are made double strength, so that they dissolve uric acid the same as hot water dissolves salt or sugar. Most people need Anuric Tablets because most people have uric acid. Better get that poison out of your body for safety's sake, and better begin today.

To gently and agreeably coax the bowels back into normal activity, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are just as good for constipation as his Anuric Tablets are good for kidney disorders, and that is saying a great deal.

IS YOUR BLOOD STARVING FOR WANT OF IRON?

Iron is Red-Blood Food—Nuxated Iron Helps Put Roofs to the Cheeks of Women and Strength and Energy Into the Veins of Men.

If you were to go without eating until you become weak, thin and emaciated, you could not do a more serious harm to yourself than when you let your blood literally starve for want of iron—iron that gives it strength and power to change food into living tissue, muscle and bone. Without plenty of iron in the blood, no matter how much you eat, your food simply passes through you without doing you any good—you don't get the strength out of it and instead of being filled with youthful strength and energy you are weak, nervous and all run down. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can walk or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks, then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Numbers of nervous, run-down people who were all the while have most astonishingly increased their strength and endurance simply by taking iron in the proper form. But don't take the old kinds of iron simply to save a few cents. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated like Nuxated Iron if you want it to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless. You can procure Nuxated Iron from your druggist on an absolute guarantee of satisfaction or your money will be refunded. —A. J. Evans

CENTENARY VISION CHALLENGES CHURCH

Enormous Power Now Released Must Be Used.

DECLARES BISHOP M'DOWELL

Methodists Possess Resources to Meet Centenary Call—Fifty Thousand Minute Men to Aid—Peril of Mohammedanism Discussed.

Columbus, Jan. 24.—"We are face to face with the providence of an altogether sufficient challenge to the church to do big things and do them now," declared Bishop William F. McDowell of Washington, D. C. addressing the Methodist Centenary (Cincinnati area) convention in Memorial hall Thursday evening.

"We have just had an extraordinary providential demonstration of the power and interest of the church and the nation when a great cause is at stake," said the bishop. "Now we are face to face with a providential release of enormous power which must not be permitted to get back to the small things or to mere conventionalities again."

"The church must remake the world's mind," declared Bishop McDowell. "The mind of the world must be made according to the mind of Christ.

"Second, we must remake the world's ideals. Commerce can not rule the world.

"Third, we must remake the world's faith. An unbelieving world or a wrong-believing world can not help coming to grief. The faith of the world in the God of Jesus Christ must be made by the church of Jesus Christ. And this is the task of the centenary."

Financial Resources Large.

"In the very audacity of the centenary's appeal lies the power of its appeal," declared Edgar Blake, associate executive secretary of the centenary movement. "If the centenary is asking for a staggering sum it is because the church is up against a staggering task," he declared, stating that when the opportunity, obligation and possibility now before the church is realized, one marvels not at the size of the centenary, but at the modesty of its askings.

"Our present giving is not the measure of our ability, but the measure of our interest. To think otherwise would put Methodism to confusion and shame," declared Dr. Blake.

"The amount asked for by the centenary, staggering as it may seem in the aggregate, simply means that where a Methodist individual is now giving a nickel, we must ask him to give 6½ cents for the whole task of Methodism," he said.

"Methodism has the ability to put the centenary over the top. It only lacks the will to do it, and that is rapidly coming."

50,000 Minute Men.

Dr. Christian F. Reisner of New York city outlined the plans by which the church expects to have 50,000 minute men, similar to those used in behalf of various governmental affairs during the war, presenting the interests of the centenary.

"John R. Mott 10 years ago urged the Christian nation to 'evangelize the world in this generation,'" said Dr. Reisner. "If they had done so there would have been no world war. If we do not now evangelize the world, our grandchildren will see another world war."

"Imagine what the condition of the world will be if Mohammedanism takes Africa, India, Malaysia, then if Japan, with her 100,000,000 and her new organization, joins the group. They will crush civilization from the world and establish the worst autocracy the universe has ever known."

"The centenary could bring to these heart-broken troubadour and bairnies a heart devoted to service. At home and abroad, it might fill the world with the staggering needs of this crucial hour."

CHILD GETS SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

Look at tongue! Then give fruit laxative for stomach, liver, bowels. "California Syrup of Figs" can't harm children and they love it.

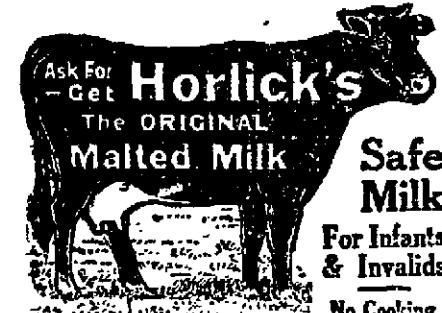

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach ache, diarrhoea, remember a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advt.

Alkali in Soap
Bad For the Hair

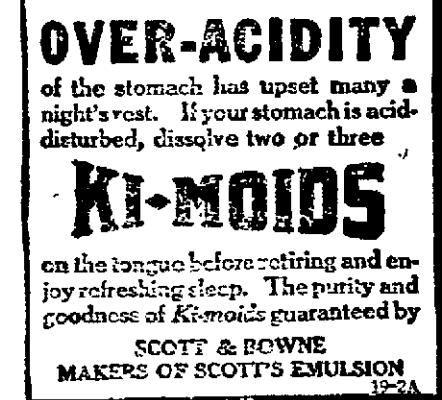

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil, (which is pure and greaselss), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoons will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

BOWMAN ENJOYS NEWARK PAPERS

Roll of Advocates Gives Him First News of Home Town Since He Landed
In France.

"We went through hell to get the supplies to the boys at the front, but we got there all right," writes Clarence ("Buster") Bowman to a friend in this city, in telling of the boys in the motor transport corps. His letter follows:

"I am located in a very pretty city—Marselles, France. Today is the first of January, and I am celebrating by sitting out here in my shirt sleeves reading a bunch of Advocates which I received today, and take it from me, it was like a gift from heaven, for it is the first newspaper that I have ever received from Newark, and I have not seen a face from there either since I have been in the service."

I certainly appreciate the papers and would rather have received them than a lame Christmas gift. If the people back home only knew what a comfort they are they would send their friends and relatives a few every now and then.

"My Christmas was spent about 1500 miles from camp, so I can tell you that it was a rather lonesome one. There are cars and cars, and then more cars here, and we have to take them all over France, most of them to the north of France. Our last trip up there it sure was cold and we had snow and rain all the time, but luckily none of the boys suffered from sickness and we all came back 'right-side up.'

"It is very warm here even at this time of the year and a coat is really uncomfortable. How I could enjoy the day if some fellow from home would just pop in and say 'hello.' I'm not homesick, but just tired of the same old things all the time, and have driven over the greatest part of France. Our company has been on the go continually and for that reason our mate never comes up with us, and it is months at times before we hear from the states. I'm ready to come back whenever Uncle Sam says the word, and I trust it will be soon."

"Tomorrow—January 2—I start for Germany and will accompany a convoy to Luxembourg, driving through with my company. It will be a hovel ty, and I'll get to enter the land of the Huns. Perhaps, who can tell, I may run across some of the boys from home before I get back, and believe me if I do there is sure going to be a talkfest for awhile and it'll be worse than an old maid's quilting party."

"I am sending you a little clipping about the boys in the motor transport corps written by one of our lads in reply to a slam from one of the infantry boys which he called 'Take Down Your Service Flag, Your Boy Is in the M. T. C.' We went through hell for those boys and this was coming to us because if it had not been for the drivers many a lad would have gone hungry and would have had no ammunition. But what's the use. Tell my friends to write and send me an occasional paper. My address is: C. A. Bowman, A. P. O. 752, Marselles, France. A. E. F."

Here's the little rap at the fellow who wrote the article referred to:

"Mothers, take down your service flag. Your boy's in the M. T. C. He shouldn't be classed with the boys at the front."

The boys in the infantry. But he doesn't need a service flag. To let them know that he does as much for his country as any man.

Outside the M. T. C.

"When the men in the frontline trenches haven't a thing to eat.

Then it's up to the boys of the M. T. C. To perform their little feat: So off they go in five-ton trucks.

Which are filled up with fresh meat, straight on thru the frontline trench, in spite of the battle's heat.

"The M. P. yells as they go by. The gas is gas in section three; So then stop their train to adjust their tanks.

For that's compulsory: Then truck number four is blown to b—!

As a shell tears thru a tree: Mother, take down your service flag. Your boy's in the M. T. C.

"Another one goes at dead man's bend And that leaves only three Out of the trucks that started out. One from each company.

The three pulled in and unloaded the grub. While Jerry's guns, you see, Makes things as hot as possible For the boys in the M. T. C.

"They work out in the open Where the wily Fritz can see. And they have no protection From the artillery.

So ask the boys in the trenches Where they would rather be, And they will tell you it's safer any where in the M. T. C.

"And when the war is over, And they are all in the U. S. A. Telling stories of the battles They took part in each day. There'll be few left to tell the story How the boys of the M. T. C. Went thru shot and shell, in the face of b—!

To tell their infantry."

Our Boys and Girls

Perhaps your baby is wakeful at night because he does not have a good deal of fresh air during the day. Try keeping him out of doors more and see that he has his nap early in the afternoon so that he will be tired and sleepy when he goes to bed at night. Do not feed him too much during the last few hours before bedtime.

Some babies stay awake at night simply because they know they will be rocked or taken up and cuddled if they cry. If you have such a habit you should by all means stop it at once. It is very, very bad for the child and very bad for you, and while you may have an unpleasant time during the first few weeks it is more than worth while to overcome bad habits.

Make up your mind to worry one day through and you will then be master of the situation. If the baby wakes up by some means from 1 to 7 o'clock, talk to him to distract his attention, or give him a few toys. You can take off some of his clothes and put them on again, anything to prevent his sleeping. Of course, this must be done in a quiet way so as not to excite the child. At 8:30 bath and feed him and he will be glad to go to sleep and will sleep to the whole night through.

SCHIFF'S

Milady's Boudoir

Flawless Hands.

The flawless hand is so beautifully shaped that it looks as if it were made for ornament as well as for use. The skin is white and ivory tinted to correspond with the complexion and should be perfectly smooth. Flawless hands are considered a beauty defect. The palm should be plump, not fat, and the fingers not too long or too short, and should be delicately tapered at the tips of the fingers.

The hands should be kept immaculately clean. The more they are rubbed and scrubbed with warm, soapy water and a nail brush, the softer they will become. Hard water is always trying for the skin and particularly for the hands. It may be softened by the addition of a handful of bran or oatmeal. If you prefer a more dainty water-softerner use this one: Rose water, 8 ounces; powdered borax 1/2 ounce; oil of lavender, 1/2 drams; ammonia, 2 ounces. Add a tablespoon to a basin of water.

Of course one should avoid using strong soaps. Buy only those made from natural vegetable oils. Dry the hands thoroughly and then rub them with honey and almond cream or a soothing cold cream of some description. An excellent hand cream may be made of the following: Oil of sweet almonds, 1 ounce; glycerine, 2 drams; beeswax, 2 drams and oil of rose geranium, 20 drops.

Heat the oil and tallow in a small porcelain bowl immersed in a man's half filled with boiling water. Mix the other ingredients in another bowl also heat until they appear creamy. Pour one mixture into the other and stir until the cream is cold.

You never need to. One man may have more dignity in his shirt sleeves than another in a frock coat and silk hat.

Every Day Etiquette

"Jack carried my suitcase from the train and I didn't know just what to say to him," remarked bashful Alice.

"You should have simply thanked him to show your appreciation of his kindness," replied her elder sister.

The woman who spends most of her time before the mirror must expect to have reflections cast upon her.

Figuratively speaking—A lecture on mathematics.

Boston, Jan. 24.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

"The wool auction this week indicate a slightly easier as regards the finer staple wools and three eighths blood combing wools. The demand for fine staple wools is still fairly keen at the lower level and the call for wools down to good quarter blood is fair at prices current."

"The markets abroad show little change. South America being firm with the exception a bit easier."

"Mohair is dull and unchanged in price."

Chicago Grain.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—Bearish sentiment predominated today in the corn market, and resulted in a general selling off intervals. Decline in foodstuffs after a run had a depressing effect.

Opening prices which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to 7.8¢ lower, with February 1.28 3-4, 1.29 1-4 and May 1.22 1-2 to 1.23, were followed by a material setback all around and then something of a rally.

Oats sympathized with corn. After opening unchanged to 3.8¢ higher the market underwent a moderate tug, but subsequently reacted.

Provisions lacked support. Demand for meats was said to have been curtailed by efforts to cut the cost of living.

SPANISH PREMIER DODGES GIBRALTAR

Refuses to Discuss Question in Chamber of Deputies In Madrid After Visit to Paris.

Madrid, Jan. 23.—Count Romanones, the Spanish premier was interpellated by Deputy Darcia, republican reformist, today, relative to his visit to Paris, the Moroccan question and the seizure of ships belonging to the central powers interned in Spanish ports. The premier replied:

"During the war Spain was the object of constant aggression from the German submarines. I wished them to react against aggression but found myself deprived of the support of public opinion. We therefore were compelled to be neutral and were legally impatient. The armistice being signed we cannot longer be neutral. We must resume our pre-war policy."

Count Romanones recognized that Spain's policy in Morocco has been a failure but declared that Spain must observe the Cartagena convention between England, France and Spain relative to the community of interest between three countries in Mediterranean waters.

Deputy Darcia mentioned Gibraltar in his speech but on this subject the premier only said:

"I do not wish to speak about it and will reply to no question on that subject."

He said he had been unable to get a reply concerning interned German ships but added that negotiations were preceding.

SENATOR HARDING

position is understood to have been inaugurated by persons closely identified with the Republican leaders.

According to their active in behalf of the proposition, the plan will not be undertaken as a party measure and if the Democrat members do not give it support it will not be pushed. They said they believed that members of both parties will support it as indicated by the limited canvass already made.

If an agreement is reached between the two parties, responsibility will be equally divided by having a Republican introduce the proposed amendment in one house and a Democrat in the other.
It is understood that views of Senator Warren G. Harding on the subject will be solicited when he comes to the capitol next Wednesday to address a joint session of the legislature on the lives of former Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt.

The proposed convention plan would not be a direct return to the old method of nomination. Instead of delegates to the convention being selected by county conventions, the delegates would be elected direct by the people.
Other safeguards that would not permit of abuses prevalent under the old method also would be provided, it is said.

The influenza epidemic was the subject of proposed legislation introduced in the house yesterday. Representative Weltz of Tuscarawas county presented a joint resolution asking congress to appropriate $5,000,000 to be expended in scientific investigation of the cause and best methods of combating the disease in order to prevent recurrence in epidemic form. Another joint resolution by Tailey of Delaware county, asks for a state survey of the hospitals by the state board of health on which to base legislation necessary to make dispensary facilities adequate to care for needs of the state.

With full Democratic opposition aided by a number of Republicans, the house by a vote of 34 to 65 defeated the Federian resolution requesting Speaker Auditor Donahue to select suitable quarters for his offices in the basement of the capitol.

Representative Stokes of Dayton introduced a bill to appropriate $25,000 to be used in preparing a state roster of all soldiers, sailors and marines in the service during the European war.
The house passed a bill appropriating $150,000 to pay claims of farmers of the state board of agriculture to prevent spread of disease. The bill now goes to the senate.

No action was taken by the house on the White resolution asking Washington officials to discontinue the use of New York as a landing port for returning soldiers because William Randolph Hearst is a member of the city's reception committee. It will come up for action next week. The senate adopted the resolution under suspension of the rules.

The senate adjourned Thursday until next Monday.

The house this morning, after formally adopting a resolution inviting U. S. Senator Warren G. Harding to address a joint session next Wednesday at 10 o'clock on the occasion of McKinley and Roosevelt adjourned until 5 o'clock p. m. Monday of next week for Representative J. W. Neilson of Monroe county, who died on Wednesday.

Benefited at Change of Life

BISHOP WARNE WILL ADDRESS METHODISTS

Columbus, Jan. 23.—Delegates from the Ohio, Kentucky and Southern Indiana conventions of the Methodist Centenary convention of the Central Jurisdiction met today. The discussion was devoted to the extension and broadening of the Epworth League, the Sunday school stewardship, life service and immigration.

Addresses were made also on the organization, national campaign, the business man and the intensive drive in preparation for the centenary program during the afternoon.

Bishop F. W. Warne will deliver an address on "Mass Movements for World Brotherhood" tonight at the conclusion of the convention.

LEAVES WITH 5100 MEN.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The transport Mongolia has sailed from France for New York and will arrive there January 30 with 100 officers and 5000 men, including about 1600 sick and wounded.

The Mongolia is bringing home casual companies, among them being men from Ohio.

AMERICAN QUESTIONS TO BE DISCUSSED LATER

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Panis, Wednesday, Jan. 22.—It will probably be several weeks before any Latin-American questions will be considered by the peace congress, because of the more pressing nature of the European problems. The Tancariva dispute between Chile, Peru and Bolivia is the only acute situation in Latin-America but it seems that even this is not likely to command attention before the league of nations is formed.

The league is expected to be especially qualified to deal with boundary questions in a scientific manner.

The United States has many experts in Latin-American questions which are likely to be brought to the attention of the delegates. The boundary dispute between Guatemala and Honduras, in which Secretary of State Lansing was named as arbitrator, is said to be moving toward settlement and can probably be adjusted without reference to the peace congress. As yet Colombia has not made any overtures in reference to her differences with the United States and no formal steps have been taken to bring any of the scores of Latin-American boundary disputes to the attention of the congress although it is expected many of these historic controversies will be referred to the league of nations as the logical tribunal for their consideration.

Should the status of Pan-American change as a result of a possible new international sea policy, it is expected that Latin-American nations as a group will make representations asking for modification of what is said to be regarded as a violation of their rights of sovereignty by the United States.

Investigation by the league of nations of Colombia's alleged assistance to the German navy by permitting the use of her islands, is also regarded as probable.
